

T.125 VC Flag of Valor Patch

It is appropriate to wear an American flag patch on the left or right sleeve. When worn on the right sleeve, it is considered proper to reverse the design so that the union is at the observer's right to suggest that the flag is flying in the breeze as the wearer moves forward, not in retreat.

The VC Flag of Valor patch is a reverse design awarded to a T.125 Venture Crew member who distinguished himself conspicuously with gallantry and intrepidity (resolute courage) and of their own volition by going above and beyond the call of duty in an outstanding act of service, act of bravery, or display of exceptional character and crew pride. In other words, while others may have retreated, they continued forward by their own resolve and personal fortitude and this patch substantiates their efforts.

Due to its prestige and status, the Flag of Valor patch is afforded special protection under Troop125 guidelines against any unauthorized adornment of the flag.
